Exit QL, then copy your files *.cfg and UI from:

%userprofile%\AppData\LocalLow\id Software\quakelive\home\baseq3

to:

%ProgramFiles(x86)%\Steam\SteamApps\common\Quake Live\<yoursteamID>\baseq3

should work

Hey All,

One of the consequences of this is that there will NO LONGER BE your friend list on new Quake.

I added my steam profile to my signature, i suggest you all do the same, or send it to your friends if you prefer it that way

@SyncError

Will i be able to link my QL account to Steam? I had one on Steam already to test the Steam version a while back but i did not used it since a very long time and marked it for deletion a long time ago. I contacted support to have this account with premium memebership connected to my Steam account some months ago but i never got any answer. What to do?

Second that. The game is worthless without some form of anti-cheat.

finally voicechat
QL might finally evolve beyond clan arena

if they get rid of loadouts, FFA might come back too

looking forward to it

Why would using Steam instead of the Quakelive launcher erase your friends list or anything else? I transitioned to Steam yesterday and all my friends are still there and its like nothing changed at all (after transferring my cfg) why is everybody saying that friends lists, 5yrs of stats, clans, etc are all being erased when all Sync said is u have to use Steamy to launch the game now instead of the QL launcher? Why erase everything because of the launcher?

Friends, bans, clans, stats, everything bound to your account is still there.
